WildLife Creations exists to help wildlife be reborn in different ways - by the sense of sight and memory.

Located in Brookwood, Alabama, it is a young business dedicated to aid in the protection and conservation of animals of the world. I've stood back and watched the environment slowly relinquish its hold so I decided to try and do something to help. Thus, WildLife Creations was born. Nowadays, man's encroachment significantly hinders wildlife thus there are too many species without a home. Parks and reserves have been constantly opening up to assist the animals in what should be an everyday affair of living. But now a lot of them are unable to exist without the permission of mankind. Join me in showing support for these persecuted animals with endangered species videos and other nature gifts.

Every purchase made in our Gifts Shop sends a little more money to different wildlife organizations to aid in the survival and possible return to the wilderness of these desperate wild animals. Your gift to a loved one could also be the gift of life to these wonderful creatures.

What is man without the beasts? If all the beasts were gone, man would die from a great loneliness of spirit. For whatever happens to the beasts, soon happens to man. All things are connected.

Ceramic animal figurines from Mt. St. Helens Ash Creations were born on May 18, 1980, when Mt. St. Helens exploded with a force 500 times greater than an atomic bomb.

Chipmunks, bears, wolves, eagles, giraffes, and other endangered animals are just a few of the decorative wildlife figurines you will find.

WildLife Creations is proud to offer these one-of-kind pieces so that you can share a "bit of the mountain's timeless treasures." These figurines are blended with clay and handcast and fired at 2000 degrees for 7-8 hours. It takes 10-12 steps from the beginning of each piece to completion. It is then polished to a fine sheen which gives it a pewter appearance. Feathers, paint accenting, and accessories are added to give it a personal touch.

Pop back in to WildLife Creations and read alot of information about endangered species or just jump right to the WildLife Creations Gifts Shop. You won't be disappointed.
